10. UNITED STATES TAX CONSIDERATIONS

Section 871(m) Withholding Tax

The U.S. Treasury Department has issued regulations under which amounts paid or deemed paid on certain financial instruments that are treated as attributable to U.S.-source dividends could be treated, in whole or in part depending on the circumstances, as a "dividend equivalent" payment that is subject to tax at a rate of 30 per cent. (or a lower rate under an applicable treaty). We have determined that, as of the issue date of the Notes, the Notes will not be subject to withholding under these rules. In certain limited circumstances, however, it is possible for United States alien holders to be liable for tax under these rules with respect to a combination of transactions treated as having been entered into in connection with each other even when no withholding is required. United States alien holders should consult their tax advisor concerning these regulations, subsequent official guidance and regarding any other possible alternative characterisations of their Notes for United States federal income tax purposes. See "United States Tax Considerations – Dividend Equivalent Payments" in the Base Prospectus for a more comprehensive discussion of the application of Section 871(m) to the Notes.

Classification for U.S. Tax Purposes

We intend to treat the Notes, for United States federal income tax purposes, in the manner described under "United States Tax Considerations – Securities Issued by GSFCl – Securities that are Classified as Debt for United States Tax Purposes" in the Base Prospectus, which description includes details for United States alien holders eligible for an exemption from United States federal withholding tax on payments of principal and interest. However this determination is not binding on the United States Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") and the IRS may disagree with the treatment. In the case of Notes that bear periodic coupons, the consequences of the IRS disagreeing with the treatment include the possibility that coupon payments made to you (including any such coupon payments made at maturity) could be subject to tax at a 30 per cent. rate or at a lower rate specified by an applicable income tax treaty under an "other income" or similar provision. No additional amounts will be paid for such tax by us or by the applicable withholding agent. Amounts paid upon the redemption or maturity of the Notes are not expected to be subject to U.S. withholding tax and, if we (including any of our affiliates) are the withholding agent, we do not intend to withhold on such amounts. You should consult your own tax advisor regarding the U.S. tax consequences of purchasing, holding and disposing of the Notes.

What are the key risks that are specific to the Issuer?

The Issuer is subject to the following key risks:

- The payment of any amount due on the Securities is subject to the credit risk of the Issuer and Guarantor. The Securities are the Issuer's unsecured obligations and the Guarantee is the Guarantor's unsecured obligation. Investors are dependent on the Issuer's and Guarantor's ability to pay all amounts due on the Securities, and therefore investors are subject to the Issuer's and Guarantor's credit risk and to changes in the market's view of the Issuer's and Guarantor's creditworthiness. Neither the Securities nor the Guarantee are bank deposits, and they are not insured or guaranteed by any compensation or deposit protection scheme. The value of and return on the Securities will be subject to the Issuer's credit risk and to changes in the market's view of the Issuer's creditworthiness.
- GSG and its consolidated subsidiaries ("Goldman Sachs") is a leading global investment banking, securities and investment management group and faces a variety of significant risks which may affect the Issuer's and the Guarantor's ability to fulfil their obligations under the Securities, including market and credit risks, liquidity risks, business activities and industry risks, operational risks and legal, regulatory and reputational risks.
- GSFCI is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Goldman Sachs group. GSFCI is primarily involved in issuing securities, lending and entering into derivatives transactions with its affiliates for hedging purposes, and does not carry out any other operating business activities. As a result, GSFCI does not have a significant amount of share capital. Investors are exposed to a significantly greater credit risk by purchasing the Securities where GSFCI is the Issuer than they would be by purchasing securities from an issuer equipped with significantly more capital. If GSFCI becomes insolvent, investors may lose some or all of the amount invested.

Any liquidation or otherwise of a subsidiary of GSG may result in GSG being liable for the subsidiary's obligations which could reduce its assets that are available to satisfy its obligations under the guarantee.

What are the key risks that are specific to the Securities?

Risk factors associated with the Securities: The Securities are subject to the following key risks:

The value and quoted price of your Securities (if any) at any time will reflect many factors and cannot be predicted.

- The market price of your Securities prior to maturity may be significantly lower than the purchase price you pay for them. Consequently, if you sell your Securities before the stated scheduled redemption date, you may receive far less than your original invested amount.
- Your Securities may be redeemed in certain extraordinary circumstances set out in the conditions of the Securities prior to scheduled maturity and, in such case, the early redemption amount paid to you may be less than the amount you paid for the Securities and might be zero.
- The principal repaid at maturity will not provide protection from the effect of inflation. After adjustment for inflation, the real return (or yield) on the Securities at maturity could be negative. Accordingly, inflation may have a negative effect on the value of and return on the Securities.

Risks relating to the Underlying Asset:

- The value of and return on your Securities depends on the performance of the Underlying Asset. The return on your Securities depends on the performance of the Underlying Asset. The level of the Underlying Asset may be subject to unpredictable change over time. This degree of change is known as "volatility". The volatility of the Underlying Asset may be affected by national and international financial, political, military or economic events, including governmental actions, or by the activities of participants in the relevant markets. Any of these events or activities could adversely affect the value of and return on the Securities. Volatility does not imply direction of the level, though an Underlying Asset that is more volatile is likely to increase or decrease in value more often and/or to a greater extent than one that is less volatile.
- Past performance of the Underlying Asset is not indicative of future performance. You should not regard any information about the past performance of the Underlying Asset as indicative of the range of, or trends in, fluctuations in the Underlying Asset that may occur in the future. The Underlying Asset may perform differently

(or the same) as in the past, and this could have material adverse effect on the value of and return on your Securities.

- Equity indices are comprised of a synthetic portfolio of shares, and as such, the performance of the Index is dependent upon the macroeconomic factors relating to the shares that underlie such Index, such as interest and price levels on the capital markets, currency developments, political factors as well as company-specific factors such as earnings position, market position, risk situation, shareholder structure and distribution policy, as well as the index composition, which may change over time.
